ANNOUNCEMENT FOR PARTNERS SELECTION

The Department of Psychology, University of Bucharest, is searching for a private entity partner located in Norway with relevant expertise in the online computerized collection and management of clinical data (e.g., psychological assessment questionnaires, personal medical history information).

We are interested in a partner with prior experience in running research projects involving the online collection of clinical, sensible private psychological data, by means of an e-health solution. Services like the automatization of scoring questionnaires and generating automated assessment reports on an individual or group of individuals are considered very valuable. Prior experience as partners in national and international grants is essential.

Private companies that are interested to become our partners can contact us at giosan@outlook.com / +1-212-444-8577.
